

was William C. Steigler, business manager of the Post-Dispatch. Mr. Steigler said the Post-Dispatch was a newspaper very largely read in the city of St. Louis. He said the Sunday circulation of the Post-Dispatch was between 17,000 and 18,000, about equally divided between city and suburban. The daily circulation was between 10,000 and 11,000, about 85 per cent of which was in the city.

Mr. Steigler identified copies of the paper and said that it had fully complied with the laws relating to the crime of bootlegging.

"Do you not think that the articles, both in the editorial and editorial columns, have had the effect of inflaming the minds of the people and creating prejudice against bootlegging and bootleggers?" asked Judge Harvey.

Before Mr. Steigler had time to reply Mr. Folk objected.

Judge Ryan sustained the objection and stated it was a matter which the court could decide. Mr. Harvey still protested and cited the Duestrom murder as a case in point. Judge Ryan stated that in every moral community there should be a prejudice against every form of crime and that that sentiment should prevail, but that the statutes took no cognizance of that, but against the person.

STRONG FEELING AGAINST BOOTLEGGING ACKNOWLEDGED

Mr. Folk acknowledged that there was a prejudice against bootlegging in St. Louis, but he said that the application for a change of venue was not that there was a prejudice against bootlegging in St. Louis, but that it wanted a change to a part of the state where there was no prejudice against such a crime along these lines.

After much argument along these lines Mr. Steigler was not permitted to answer the question.

H. B. Wandell, city editor of the Globe-Democrat, was called. He stated he did not know the extent of the prejudice, but he said he did not even estimate it approximately. Eventually he said he could guess it. He was told to do so and stated that it was about 60,000 daily, and more on Sunday. Since the beginning of the bootlegging investigation the Globe-Democrat had contained something about bootlegging.

Mr. Folk asked Mr. Wandell if what he read on the subject in his own and other papers had prejudiced his mind against bootlegging. He said it had not. He was asked, in mingling with other people, he knew that such publications had created prejudice in their minds against bootlegging. He said he believed not, but that there was a general prejudice against the crime of bootlegging.

NEWSPAPERS DO NOT PREJUDICE READERS

John Magner stated that no prejudice existed to his knowledge against Kratz by reason of newspaper publication of news or comment. Mr. Magner stated that the publication of articles of that nature was not to inflame or prejudice the public mind against the individual, except only if he should be proved guilty of the crime charged.

Sterling E. Edmunds, Jr., city editor of the Chronicle, said he did not know the circulation of his paper.

Mr. Edmunds said he knew of no prejudice against the alleged bootlegger, but he said there was a great deal of feeling against the crime of bootlegging, however.

Judge Harvey said he was asked if he was prejudiced against bootlegging. He said he was not, but he said he was prejudiced against the crime of bootlegging.

Mr. Folk asked if he was prejudiced against bootlegging. He said he was not, but he said he was prejudiced against the crime of bootlegging.

JULIUS LEHMANN EXPRESS PREJUDICE

Mr. Folk asked for just one. He tried to coax one name out of Mr. Hunt, and after much time and thinking on the part of the witness he said he had heard Julius Lehmann express prejudice. In spite of the dignity of the court, this caused an outburst of laughter.

Mr. Folk turned him and asked him what Lehmann had said. Mr. Lehmann, according to Hunt, said that "there was nothing in it."

"Was that in prejudice to Kratz?" "Well, I don't know," said Hunt.

"How was that prejudice against Kratz?" "Well, he referred to the whole thing in general."

"Now, who also expressed prejudice against Kratz?" "Well, I had known it was coming here as a witness I could have thought some up," said Hunt.

asked for association and had been rejected by the president. The president had been rejected by the president.

Again I crave the pardon of those who differ with me. If, against my intention, it happens to say a word which may seem to them unbecoming the place and hour. But I am here to give the opinion which my friends entertained of President McKinley, of course claiming no immunity from criticism in what I shall say, and I believe that the verdict of history will be that he met all crises grave and light with perfect calm and in comparative quietude, that in grappling with them he rose to the full height of a great occasion, in a manner which rendered to the nation the greatest service of his life and to his own immortal honor.

The President

Deplored War.

The least desirable form of story to a man of his habitual mood and character was that of a war. He was nevertheless confronted upon him by uncontrollable events. He felt it must come; he deplored its necessity; he strained almost to breaking his relations with his friends, in order, first, to prevent and then to postpone it. He was the last possible moment. But when the die was cast he labored with the greatest calm and with an intelligence in military matters which showed how much of the soldier still survived in the mature statesman. He was a man of a decisive calm. War was an anguish to him; he was a man of a decisive calm.

FLORENCE BURNS' FAMILY DISAPPEARS

PROSECUTION EARNESTLY SEEKS IT FOR ITS TESTIMONY.

ACCUSED GIRL STILL CALM

Negro Bell Boy's Identification Shattered Through Admissions Defense Wrung From Him.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Florence Burns' mother, father and sister have "disappeared."

Their testimony is much desired by the prosecution, but ever effort to subpoena them has failed.

It is believed by the district attorney that Florence may have used her father's pistol in killing Walter Brooks.

Miss Burns continues amazingly calm. Not once today while evidence was given did she betray the slightest anxiety. The same demeanor marked her yesterday. She behaves exactly as a person who has only a transient interest in the proceedings.

During lapses in the examination she chatted with the young assistant of Foster L. Backus, her counsel, and smiled unaffectedly.

When the examination was over for the day she was one of the first to stand up and, stretching her arms down by her sides and drawing up her chest, she gave an audible sigh of gratification.

To a woman of normal temperament, the day would have been a trying ordeal. Once the negro bellboy was told to compare her, feature by feature, with the woman who was with Brooks in the hotel. Her hair was pointed out, and then her hair, eyebrows, eyes, nose and mouth.

Once she stood up with the negro facing her a couple of feet away so that he could observe her height. Not once during all this did she show the slightest embarrassment.

Washington's identification of the girl was practically torn shreds at the examination by the admissions wrung from him, though he insisted again and again that Miss Burns was the woman he saw with Brooks in the hotel. He threw more light upon the peculiarities of the girl.

"They told me to walk through the capital room," said Washington, "and if the young lady was the young lady I saw in the Glen Island Hotel."

"When you first saw her in the station-house, was she in the company of two other women?"

"No, I was called into the captain's room again when the two other women were there. All three were standing in line. Miss Burns was in the middle. The woman on her left came up to her shoulder, and the woman on her right came up to her ear. When I again identified her, Miss Burns said:

"He picked me out because he saw me first here alone."

Washington said he had told not only the detectives but Assistant District Attorney Krottel and the assistant at the station house that Brooks' companion had dark hair, dark skin and a long, thin nose. When asked to scrutinize her, Brooks said first that she had a dark complexion, then a light complexion.

WOMAN HURT IN HOTEL FIRE.
She jumped from roof of the Bowdoin in Boston.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—The upper stories of the Bowdoin Square Hotel were visited by fire this morning. A woman who jumped from the hotel roof was severely injured. The hotel is connected with the Bowdoin Square Theater.

The fire was confined to the upper part of the building and the loss will be slight. About 150 guests escaped from the hotel in safety. The woman who jumped was the only person hurt.

A COFFEE LIVER.
Peculiar Effects of the Beverage.

Unfortunately I was the unwilling possessor of a hopelessly torpid liver, which kept growing more and more hopeless as the years went by. It finally became impossible for me to obtain sleep at night unless absolute stillness reigned.

Living in the city, I was disturbed many times at night, so that finally I was sent to the country, and there the least bark of a dog or the sound of a cow bell broke up my light repose and put me into a desperately nervous condition. Matters grew rapidly worse, and finally culminated in a severe illness. When I was convalescent the doctor positively forbade my using coffee and recommended Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

This was a terrible blow, as I was a coffee fiend, but I was weak enough to be sensible, and so I determined to try Postum, although I went at it very unwillingly. I determined to know that it was made right, so I read the directions carefully and made the first cup myself. I was amazed at the rich brown liquid that steamed forth from the coffee pot at luncheon that day and still more amazed, when upon tasting it, found I had a most delicious beverage, with a delicious coffee flavor.

It is needless to say that Postum appeared upon my table from that time on. As the days went by I gradually noticed a change for the better, in point of health. It took some time to recover from the rack of the nervous system, more conscious that I was sleeping soundly and improving steadily. Naturally my irritability disappeared. I find myself now with twice, yes ten times, the ability for enjoyment that I previously had.

One of my friends upon learning that I had been healed by leaving off coffee and using Postum, exclaimed and wondered how I could drink "that stuff."

I replied that we were very fond of it indeed, actually preferring it to any brand of coffee, whereupon she remarked that coffee was such a beautiful clear liquid and had such a delicious taste, while Postum was muddy and flat. I saw at once that my friend had failed to have her Postum made properly and determined to give her some good Postum. She is very easily prejudiced, so, shortly after when she came to visit me at the lake, I asked her to try some new coffee, and for two weeks I served Postum to her, she believing all this time that she was drinking a very high priced and expensive brand of coffee. When at the end of her visit I told her that she had been having Postum Food Coffee two, and sometimes three times a day all of the period of her visit, she took the joke in good part and said, "If that is true, I am glad to be a member of the Postum army."

LONDON NEEDS MANY TEACHERS

THE SCHOOL BOARD CONFRONTED WITH SERIOUS DIFFICULTY.

CANNOT FILL VACANCIES

Reduction of Minimum Salary Drives Women Into Other Fields of Employment.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—It has become the usage lately to describe a shortage of any kind as a "famine." At the present time the London school board is suffering from the strangest kind of "famine." It wants scores of women teachers, but cannot get them.

The trouble has arisen over the salary question. Some time ago the board reduced the minimum yearly salary to £20 ($400) from £25.

This was the last straw on the burden of many previous grievances, and the teachers decided to look for more remunerative employment elsewhere. Most of them have turned their attention to the civil service, while others have gone to towns that offer better inducements than the London board. Even in some of the suburban departments women teachers receive larger salaries than are paid here.

To show the strange conditions that exist, it might be noted that recently 50 vacancies for women teachers in the infant department of 134 vacancies were officially announced. The applicants, however, numbered but 17. Advertisements for teachers in the Chelsea and Westminster divisions were followed by similar results—practically no women are ready to take the positions.

The teachers themselves are very definite in accounting for this singular condition of affairs. Nowadays they say the present circumstances and future prospects of women teachers under the London school board are not attractive, more especially since many of the outside boards offer an automatic increase in salary of £5 per annum, while the London officials give but £3.

Therefore those women who are wise in their generation go elsewhere to teach, or else, with their undoubted qualifications, take up some other work, particularly in the civil service departments.

Meanwhile the school management committee is in a quandary. Advertisements for teachers in outside towns in England have been issued, and carried a large number of applicants as if some schools will have to be closed or the salaries of the women teachers raised.

Washington's identification of the girl was practically torn shreds at the examination by the admissions wrung from him, though he insisted again and again that Miss Burns was the woman he saw with Brooks in the hotel. He threw more light upon the peculiarities of the girl.

"They told me to walk through the capital room," said Washington, "and if the young lady was the young lady I saw in the Glen Island Hotel."

"When you first saw her in the station-house, was she in the company of two other women?"

"No, I was called into the captain's room again when the two other women were there. All three were standing in line. Miss Burns was in the middle. The woman on her left came up to her shoulder, and the woman on her right came up to her ear. When I again identified her, Miss Burns said:

"He picked me out because he saw me first here alone."

Washington said he had told not only the detectives but Assistant District Attorney Krottel and the assistant at the station house that Brooks' companion had dark hair, dark skin and a long, thin nose. When asked to scrutinize her, Brooks said first that she had a dark complexion, then a light complexion.

TOJO GETS HIS JOB PEACEFULLY LIVES ONLY TO LOSE IT

COUNT OF BALLOTS MADE HIM MAYOR OF WINSTANLEY.

BUT AN INJUNCTION BARRED

It Has Been Dissolved and Now His City Is to Be Annexed to East St. Louis.

In the Circuit Court at Belleville, Wednesday, Judge Schaefer dissolved the temporary injunction, granted some time ago, restraining Raymond Tojo from taking the office of president of the Village Board of Winstanley, Park and from interfering with Henry Drummond in the discharge of the duties of the office.

After being kept out of the office for over a year, Mr. Tojo will now be enabled to resign.

The judges of election declared Drummond was elected. Tojo contested the election. The issue was decided favorably to Mr. Tojo, a recount of the ballots showing Mr. Tojo received a large majority of the votes.

Mr. Drummond obtained a temporary injunction to prevent Mr. Tojo from taking the chair of office or exercising any of the functions of village president, and from interfering with Mr. Drummond in the discharge of his duties as president. It is in this injunction which has now been dissolved.

The injunction was obtained on the ground that an appeal which Mr. Drummond had taken from the court of appeals, and which was acted upon by Judge Schaefer, held that it does not, and his decision compels Drummond to get out and let Tojo in.

Since the case was decided in favor of Tojo, the village board had an election to vote on a proposition to annex East St. Louis, and the proposition has been carried. Tojo's triumph will therefore not last long. He will, however, probably have the satisfaction of compelling Drummond to disgorge the back salary which he has drawn. Mr. Drummond will also have to pay the costs of litigation, which are large.

ICE GORGE THREATENS FLOOD.

Susquehanna River Is Blocked and Bridges Are in Danger.

YORK, Pa., Feb. 27.—Early today the Susquehanna river at Wrightsville reached a point two inches higher than the high water mark of 1895. A gorge has formed against the big steel bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad, between Columbia and Wrightsville, and that structure is in danger.

A wall of ice has been piled up along the north side of the bridge from shore to shore, as high as the handrails. Trains crossed the bridge this morning with extreme caution. A large force of laborers is employed keeping the roadway free from ice. Below the bridge the ice has moved out. When the ice broke yesterday afternoon, the steamer Interceptor of the Wrightsville Ferry Co. was crushed and sent to the bottom.

A CAUSE OF HEADACHE.

One Very Common Cause, Generally Over-Looked.

Headache is a symptom, an indication of derangement or disease in some organ, and the cause of the headache is difficult to locate because so many diseases have headache as a prominent symptom; derangement of the stomach and liver, heart trouble, kidney disease, lung trouble, eye strain, all fitting glasses, all produce headaches, and if we could always locate the organ which is at fault the cure of obstinate headaches would be a much simpler matter.

However, for that form of headache called frontal headache, pain back of the eyes and in forehead, the cause is now known to be catarrh of the head and throat; when the headache is located in back of head and neck it is often caused from catarrh of the stomach or liver.

At any rate catarrh is the most common cause of such headaches, and the cure of the catarrh causes a prompt disappearance of the headaches.

There is at present no treatment for catarrh so convenient and effective as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new internal remedy in tablet form, composed of antiseptics like eucalyptol, guaiacol and blood root which act upon the blood and cause the elimination of the catarrhal poison from the system through the natural channels.

Miss Cora Ainsley, a prominent school teacher in one of our normal schools, speaks of her experience with catarrhal headaches and endorses Stuart's Catarrh Tablets as a cure for them. She says: "I suffered daily from severe frontal headache and pain in and back of the eyes, at times so intensely as to incapacitate me in my daily duties. I had suffered from catarrh, more or less, for years, but never thought it was the cause of my headaches, but finally became convinced that such was the case because the headaches were always worse whenever I had a cold or fresh attack of catarrh."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets were highly recommended to me as a safe and pleasant catarrh cure, and after using a few 50-cent boxes which I procured from my druggists I was surprised and delighted to find that both the catarrh and headaches had gone for good."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, under the guarantee of the proprietors that they contain absolutely no cocaine (found in so many catarrh cures), no opium (as common in cheap cough cures), nor any harmful or dangerous ingredients.

Eighty-Thousand Persons Dwell Upon Vesuvius.

CONSTANT PERIL IGNORED

THE PEOPLE PLACE FAITH IN SAN GENARO.

Peasants' Indifference to Danger From Floods of Lava Is Largely Due to Trust in the Patron Saint of Naples.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Fully 80,000 persons dwell in peace and undisturbed security upon Mt. Vesuvius. In a dispatch from Naples Wm. B. Curtis, the European correspondent of the Second Herald, says it seems strange that a section exposed to such constant peril should be so densely populated, and have witnessed the terrible destruction from the disturbances of 1872. There were eruptions in 1883 and 1890, which destroyed the roads, but did no other damage, though they were a loud warning to all who occupy the great amphitheater within the range of volcanic catastrophe. Last May the machinery of the railway that carries people to the crater was partially destroyed, but little lava was thrown out. In every window of the white houses which glare in the sun can be seen the floods of lava which have so often poured from the crater of the monster and forced their way down to the sea, burning and burying everything in their track. Yet the peasants continue working in the vine yards within a few yards of the significant streams, producing that popular wine with the blasphemous name, Lacrima Christi (tears of Christ). The lava is intensely hot, and is especially adapted for growing of grapes. But the volcanic soil is equally productive of other crops.

Full Faith in Patron Saint.

The greatest security, however, is assured by San Genaro, the patron saint of Naples, who has repeatedly averted earthquakes and relieved the anxiety of the frightened people. The romans of this saint repose in one of the churches, where there is a crystal vial containing a quantity of his blood. Upon certain anniversaries the priest takes the vial, and in the presence of thousands of people, he pours the blood into the church, a test is made which indicates whether danger is to be apprehended during the coming year from the volcano, and whether the crops are to be good or bad. The sacred relic is first conducted at the head of a procession of different sections of the city, in order that as many people as possible may share in the adoration. At the end of the march high mass is celebrated by the bishop or archbishop or some prelate of distinguished rank, while the crystal vase stands upon the altar. Then the bishop holds the sacred vessel with both hands above his head, and if the blood of the saint congeals no danger need be expected and the people are reassured and when it boils, as it sometimes does, they fall upon their knees with moans and groans and alarm, and entreat the intervention of the saints. So great is the faith that the thousands of people continue to live in the city, and there has been no great loss of life of recent years, but Pompeii and Herculaneum before them have perished, and 800,000 and 200,000 people have lost their lives on these different occasions within the last two centuries. The eruption of 1794 was the last in which many lives were sacrificed, although in 1872 20 people were killed by the lava, being led by curiosity too near the point of danger.

The Famous Crater Is Out.

The crater which destroyed Pompeii and Herculaneum is active. Its work was done and was done, and it has been gradually filled up by the overflow from other craters which have broken out since. Every few years there is a break in the cone of the cone. Today you can see the last one, which opened in 1890, and the yellow color of the surface of the earth around it is due to sulphur as people at first suppose. When the air is still rises from the earth. The manager of the railway tells me that the rocks and the lava have not yet cooled, although two years have passed, and it is impossible to approach nearer than 50 or 60 yards on account of the heat. The temperature of the lava recorded by observers in 1890 was 2000 degrees Fahrenheit. I am not able to understand how the record was taken, but give the fact as stated to me.

There was another and an even greater outbreak in 1858, from which flowed several streams of lava with a roar resembling the detonation of artillery. The roadway which had been built at great expense up the side of the mountain was buried under the floods of liquid lava and several hundred yards had to be rebuilt. So far as can be ascertained that crater was only temporary, and has closed again; but the surface of the mountain is so hot that it cannot be reached.

Since 1872 there has been no eruption from the main crater at the top of the mountain, although a cloud of steam or a pillar of smoke continually arises. When the air is still rises from the mountain like a pure white cloud. Occasionally the vapor coalesces and volumes of thick black smoke ascend which throws a shower of ash over the surrounding country. At other times it takes the form of a streamer, tapering off into the sky far distant, and again it will settle about the summit of the mountain like a pure white cloud. ## BOERS MADE FIERCE ATTACK.

British Outposts Were Assaulted and Threatened With Capture.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The attack made by the Boers to rush the outpost line near Botha'sburg, Transvaal Colony, during the night of Feb. 24, reported in Gen. Kitchener's dispatch yesterday, was most determined. The Boers were led by two well-known fighters—Boss Hande and Mankie Botha. When the Boers realized that their attempt actually to break through the wire fence was frustrated they crunched beside the cattle killed by the British fire, and with which the ground was thickly strewn, they then poured a heavy fire on the British troops.

The Boers were steadily returned, and finally the Boers were driven back, leaving 12 dead and 20 wounded, and capturing 100 rifles and 1000 rounds of ammunition.

LOVE IS NEMESIS OF A WAR HERO

M'NEIL HAS COURTED NOT WISELY, BUT TOO OFTEN.

CUPID LED HIM TOO ARMY.

Also Lodged Him in Guardhouse Through Causing Him to Leave Post to See Sweetheart.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The hero of important battles in Cuba and the Philippines, Malcolm McNeill, a well-known Chicago boy, son of Charles G. McNeill of 1233 Oakdale avenue, and nephew of Archibald McNeill of Libby, McNeill & Libby, now lies in the cell of the guardhouse at Fort Crook, Neb., the star of a love story of unusual ramifications and motives. He now faces the charge of leaving his post, enlisting in the United States army under an assumed name, and in addition his proposed marriage to a young woman of prominent family, young woman of prominent family, young woman of prominent family, being strenuously opposed by his father.

Young McNeill is now a member in disgrace of the Tenth United States Infantry. His first name, which he has been known by since he enlisted, is Malcolm McNeill. He is a native of Chicago, and was born 23 years ago. According to his own story he became acquainted with a handsome woman of Chicago, who is a native of the city, and who is now a member of the Tenth United States Infantry. The acquaintance led to infatuation and this feeling created in him an idea of desertion. He was a member of the Tenth United States Infantry, and was a member of the Tenth United States Infantry. He was a member of the Tenth United States Infantry, and was a member of the Tenth United States Infantry.

At the outbreak of the Spanish war he was a corporal in the First Illinois Infantry and served before Santiago with his regiment. Two years ago, last September, he returned to Chicago. After four months of fever he ran away to Cleveland, O., and joined the Tenth United States Infantry. He served in the Philippines during the early part of the war and afterward in the commissary department both on the islands and in China. He then left the army, but remained in China until last fall. After returning to the United States McNeill again entered the army, joining his regiment at the Tenth United States Infantry. He was a member of the Tenth United States Infantry, and was a member of the Tenth United States Infantry.

PREFERRED DEATH TO JAIL.

Ernest Wedekind, Chicago Lawyer, Ends His Own Life.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—To avoid going to jail, Ernest Wedekind, a lawyer indicted on a charge of embezzlement of $400, shot and mortally wounded himself after arrest. He was taken to the Alton Brothers' Hospital, where he died without regaining consciousness. Wedekind was under arrest, and while officers were at lunch he stepped into a side room and shot himself. Two criminal trials, famous in the annals of local courts, are recalled by his act. Wedekind was associated in business with Theodore Schmitz, the banker and broker sent to prison on a charge of embezzling sums of money from his clients, and was indicted with the financier on the same charge. But the same jury that convicted Schmitz acquitted the lawyer.

LEGAL BATTLE LASTED 25 YEARS NOW AFTER 5 YEARS

FINALLY ILLINOIS FARMERS WIN
SNY LEVEE CASE.

WILL SAVE 1000 HOMES

Decision in the Famous Road Suit,
Which Has Gone Through All the Courts.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 27.—Nearly a thousand land owners in Adams, Pike and Calhoun Counties have won a fight, after 25 years of litigation, which, had the verdict been the other way, would have swept away their property.

The case of O'Brien et al., executors of the estate of Francis Palma, against Wheeler et al., commonly known as the "Sny Levee bond suit," has just been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of the land owners.

It is one of the most noted real estate cases ever heard in this state. It directly involves certain bonds held by the executors of Francis Palma of Detroit, Mich., representing principal and interest of more than $1,000,000 and indirectly other bonds to an equal amount.

The case was decided by the Supreme Court on appeals from the Supreme Court of Illinois, which in 1895 affirmed the decision of the Illinois Supreme Court in favor of the executors of the Palma estate.

The bonds were issued in 1872 and 1873 by the commissioners of the Sny levee drainage district, organized in Pike county, under the provisions of the act of April 24, 1871, and the money derived from them was used in building what purported to be a levee for the protection of the lands on the east bank of the Mississippi river.

In 1875 the levee broke in many places, and nearly all improvements were washed away. About the same time the Supreme Court of Illinois decided the act of 1871 unconstitutional, and the assessments thereunder void. In 1878 Mr. Palma filed a bill in the United States Circuit Court for the southern district of Illinois against the levee commissioners. The case was heard before the late Judge Drummond in 1879 and 1880, and he held that the bondholders were entitled to a lien upon the levee to secure their bonds.

Mr. Palma did not avail himself of the privilege granted him to file a supplemental bill, and died in 1888. His executors undertook to collect the bonds and in April, 1888, filed a bill against the land owners. The case was taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago, which sustained the decision of Judge Allen. The bondholders then appealed to the United States Supreme Court for a writ of certiorari, which was granted by the court. The case was submitted to the Supreme Court on its merits in October of last year.

All the judges before whom the case was heard in its trials through the United States Circuit Court are now dead, and the same is true of two of the judges who heard it in the Circuit Court of Appeals. All of the original counsel for the land owners are dead, and all the original counsel for the executors are dead except George W. Jones, late clerk of the Appellate Court.

GALVESTON IS NOT LIABLE.
Exempted From Payment for Private Property Seized After Storm.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 27.—By a decision of the court of civil appeals the city of Galveston is relieved of responsibility for private property seized for public purposes in the great storm of 1900.

The decision is of great importance to the city, as the value of the property of considerable value was pressed into public service by the city authorities.

In the case in point, a pair of horses belonging to A. Brown were seized by the mayor and chief of police and were driven until they died. Brown sued for $200, the alleged value, and the city refused to pay. The court of appeals finds that the seizure was without authority of the City Council and that the city is not liable.

HILL ONLY A HIGH PRIVATE.
Financier Says He Is Not Among "Captains of Industry."

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—James Hill, president of the Northern Securities Co., who has arrived here from St. Paul, denies that his presence is in connection with any appointed meeting of the railroad companies involved in the proposed suit of Attorney-General Knox. When asked if he came as a "captain of industry," he laughingly replied that he came to "serve as a high private in the rear rank."

TO MOTHERS
Mrs. J. H. Haskins, of Chicago, Ill., President Chicago Arcade Club, Addresses Comforting Words to Women Regarding Childbirth.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Mothers need not dread childbearing after they know the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. While I loved children I dreaded the ordeal, for it left me weak and sick."

DIAMONDS ARE CONFISCATED.
Federal Authorities Seize $10,000 Worth, Found in Secret For'ets.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Feb. 27.—Eight parcels of diamonds valued at $10,000 have been confiscated and ordered sold by federal Judge Wheeler.

The stones were seized at St. Albans, Vt., last Saturday. They were found in the pockets of a man who was arrested while he was taking the diamonds from a stationery store in New York by a firm in the latter city.

EX-PATIENT AVERS SANITY.
Henry Franke Seeks Damages for Confinement in Insane Asylum.

Henry Franke of Pattonville, St. Louis County, who was confined in the St. Louis insane asylum more than a year, has sued for damages for the confinement. He alleges that he was sane when he was committed to the asylum. Dr. H. L. Nietert, superintendent of the City Hospital, and Dr. Max C. Starkhoff, head of the asylum, are the defendants.

The plaintiff alleges that as a result of being confined in an insane asylum he has lost his license as a stationary engineer and will have difficulty in securing a new one.

Dr. Starkhoff says that he was convinced of Franke's insanity when the latter was a patient at the asylum and that he still believes him to be of unsound mind.
